2. Financial Results Overview (by Category)

- ✓ CR and SFP categories saw higher sales and lower profits due to higher personnel costs as expected.
- ✓ Specialty Brand category saw both sales and profit increased, despite higher labor costs.
- ✓ In Overseas category, sales and profits declined in real terms when viewed on a foreign currency basis, excluding the impact of yen depreciation.

CR category (Sales revenue):

SFP category (Sales revenue):

Demand for izakaya was firm, mainly in the Tokyo metropolitan area and central Tokyo, and inbound tourists remained strong.

Specialty Brand category (Sales revenue):

Daily restaurant formats (Tsukemen, Bakeries, etc.) were solid, while Japanese cuisine "Icchou" was favorable due to successful menu revisions.

Overseas category (Sales revenue):

In North America, despite a weakening of the restaurant industry as a whole due to inflationary fatigue, "II Fornaio" with a relatively high unit price struggled somewhat.
